

May 17, 2004

To Whom It May Concern:

Ms Adrienne Papp has been, since March 2005, a great lecturer of marketing at International Business School Budapest awarding Oxford Brookes University diplomas to its students. She has demonstrated excellent professional and education skills, was appointed for this position due to her 10 years of success in the field of International Marketing, and grew very popular amongst colleagues and students. Due to her outstanding performance and great demand for her services, the school also elected her to become one of the panel members of the Board of Final Examiners this semester.

We heartily endorse Ms Papp for any position where a high level of marketing expertise can contribute to the success of any company or organization.

Very truly yours,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Balázs Hámori".

Balázs Hámori, Ph.D.

Head of School
International Business School,
Budapest

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Martha Szabados".

Martha Szabados, Ph.D.

Programme Director
BA in Business and
Languages Programme
International Business School,
Budapest